

FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON
OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
LEWIS P. MORTON
OF NEW YORK.

THE OUTLOOK.

A correspondent of the Gazette, writing from New York, says: The outlook is not so rosy-hued for the Democracy as it was thirty years ago; what is especially significant some of the leaders are not as sanguine of success as they might be. When the politicians talk of publication they usually paint a picture of bright colors, but when they talk seriously and in confidence everything is changed.

To a keen observer it will be noted that just now in the ranks of the Democracy, particularly in New York, harmony is not prevalent. The factions are in a turmoil that is calculated to cause serious dissensions in their respective camps.

It is openly avowed that Grace is the Administration's choice for governor, and the powers that be are working secretly to destroy David Bennett Hill. Already the fight in New York has assumed definite shape and the first blow was struck when Grace made his attack on Governor Hill.

It will also be remembered that Edward C. Cooper, who is a power in New York politics, besides being several times a millionaire, protested against the St. Louis platform, and Mayor Hewitt would not permit a salute to be fired in honor of Cleveland's renomination. These little incidents may appear trifling, but at the same time they are straws which indicate the political current. The success of the Democratic party, every one will admit, hinges on New York, and until some startling changes are made the Empire State will not be found in the Democratic column in November.

The Mayor of New York has more patronage to dispense than the President, and history shows that New York Democrats will always make a desperate effort to control the State even at the expense of the President.

Governor Hill is a candidate for re-nomination. He has the liquor men and the German vote solid. William R. Grace is the candidate of the Administration, and the attack upon Governor Hill clearly came from Washington. Now no one can doubt that there is a storm brewing in the Democratic fort, and it won't take long before the fuse will be near the gun powder; then look out for the explosion.

Speaker Carlisle's sudden visit to New York and the President's recent trip all have a deep meaning, and the time is near at hand for some very interesting disclosures.

Democracy of Arkansas.

New York, Aug. 29.—A letter from Bedford Brown of Locust Bayou, Calhoun county, Ark., to the National Republican Committee, shows a deplorable state of affairs in his county. Brown is a Southern man, but a Republican, and he soundly denounces the bull-dozing acts of the Bourbon Democrats. He said last week that members of the county fusion ticket were met by armed and drunken Democratic mobs and were driven entirely out of the field. A mass meeting was called by the fusion ticket at Cambersville, but it never took place. A murderous mob, headed by the Sheriff, met the citizens going to attend the meeting and ordered them to go home and crawl into their holes until the election was over, or forfeit their lives. Brown's letter is graphic, and clearly shows that the shotgun brigade of the South is in the saddle again. The State election takes place Monday.

—Mrs. Charles Bicknell left for the East last evening as one of the Pacific Coast delegates of the Women's Relief Corps to the encampment of the "G. A. R." at Columbus, Ohio.
